For most of her religious life in the community, Sister Angelica served in the dietary department. She revisited Lithuania to the 1970's while it was still under communistic rule. While all were concerned for her safety during this time, Sister Angelica put her trust in the Lord with the help of her beloved St. John Neumann and she was able to give much consolation to her relatives with the presentation of the religious articles she was able to get through.

“Angels are spirits destined to serve.”
